

The background of the entire image is a theatrical stage. At the top, heavy red velvet curtains are drawn back, revealing a dark blue stage backdrop. A spotlight from above illuminates the center of the stage floor, creating a circular pool of light. In the center of this spotlight, there are several small, abstract shapes in shades of orange, red, and blue, resembling paint splatters or small objects. In the foreground, a large, ornate gold frame is positioned, containing a white canvas with abstract brushstrokes in black, grey, and red. The text is overlaid on this canvas.
